WHERE & WHEN

FESTIVALS AND FUN

NATIONAL BOOK FESTIVAL

The book-lovers' gathering returns to the Mall with readings and workshops by Jeffrey Eugenides, Junot Díaz, Philip Roth, Walter Isaacson, Colson Whitehead, and many others—plus some 50 events for kids. September 22 and 23. Free; loc.gov/bookfest.

FALL FOR THE BOOK

This festival features Alice Walker, Barbara Ehrenreich, Emma Straub, and more. Awards are being given to Michael Chabon (see review of his new novel on page 55), Rita Dove, and Neil Gaiman, among others. September 26 through 30. 4400 University Dr., Fairfax; 703-993-3986; fallforthebook.org.

DC FASHION WEEK

This event—bringing runway shows, designer showcases, and more to the District—kicks off with a fashion show at the International Finance Corporation, followed by couture shows and networking events at various locations. September 17 through September 23. Visit dcfashionweek.org.

FASHION'S NIGHT OUT

Fashion's Night Out has organized shopping-themed evenings in Georgetown for a few years, but now the event is branching out to Alexandria as well: Old Town boutiques host trunk shows, cocktail events, live music, and more. Georgetown's counterpart aims to top last year's parties and fashion shows at 100-plus stores. September 6. Details at frogeorgetowndc.com or visitallexandriavm.com.

ABBEY ROAD ON THE RIVER

The US's largest Beatles festival returns to National Harbor with Jefferson Starship as well as 35 Fab Four tribute groups. August 30 through September 3. $25 to $200. Details at abbeyroadontheriver.com.

DC SHORTS FILM FESTIVAL

This fest features 140 short films at DC's Landmark E Street Cinema and Atlas Performing Arts Center and Fairfax's new Angelika Film Center, among others. Stars include Judi Dench (Friend Request Pending), Anna Paquin (The Carrier), and Kathy Bates (the animated Cadaver). Fans can also pay $20 to stream many of the films online. September 6 through 16. For a schedule and ticket prices, visit dcshorts.com.
